Key Events

- The Battle with Alessi: One of the most significant confrontations in this volume is against the Stand user Alessi, who wields the Stand known as Sethan. Alessi's power allows him to revert his opponents to a younger age, making them vulnerable. The battle showcases not only the physical prowess of the group but also their mental fortitude as they navigate the challenges posed by Alessi's abilities.
- The Introduction of Anubis: Another crucial encounter is with the Stand Anubis, which possesses a sword and is controlled by the Stand user Chaka. Anubis has the ability to become stronger as it battles, making it a formidable opponent. This arc highlights the theme of growth and adaptation in combat, as Jotaro and his team must outsmart a seemingly invincible foe.
- The Tension with DIO: Throughout this volume, the looming threat of DIO is ever-present. The tension builds as the characters reflect on their motivations and the stakes involved in their battle against the vampire. Each individual's backstory and connections to the Joestar lineage add depth to the overarching conflict.

Character Development

Volume 4 continues to explore the complexities of its characters, enriching the reader's understanding of their motivations and relationships.

Jotaro Kujo

Jotaro's character growth is significant in this volume. As the stoic and powerful protagonist, he is often seen as emotionally detached. However, his interactions with his companions reveal layers of vulnerability. His determination to protect his friends and defeat DIO is central to his character arc. The battle against Alessi, in particular, forces Jotaro to confront his feelings about youth and innocence, adding emotional depth to his character.

Joseph Joestar

Joseph remains a fan-favorite due to his strategic mind and comedic relief. In this volume, his experience as a former Stand user allows him to mentor the younger members of the group. His interactions with Jotaro show a blend of generational conflict and camaraderie, highlighting the theme of legacy within the Joestar family.

Noriaki Kakyoin

Kakyoin's development is also noteworthy. Initially seen as a mysterious ally, he becomes a more integral part of the group. His Stand, Hierophant Green, showcases his intelligence and creativity in combat. Volume 4 establishes Kakyoin as a vital member of the team, capable of independent thought and strategy, especially during the battle with Alessi.

Muhammad Avdol and Jean Pierre Polnareff

Both Avdol and Polnareff add unique dynamics to the group. Avdol's wisdom and experience provide a grounding force, while Polnareff's brashness often leads to humorous situations. Their individual battles against Stand users further enrich their characters, allowing for moments of personal growth and reflection.
