Understanding Juliette Gordon Low

Early Life and Background

Juliette Gordon Low, born on October 31, 1860, in Savannah, Georgia, came from a prominent family. Her early life was influenced by her parents, both of whom instilled in her the importance of education and service. Key points about her background include:

1. Family Heritage: Low was the second of six children in a well-to-do family, which allowed her access to education and travel.
2. Health Challenges: Throughout her childhood, Low faced numerous health challenges, including hearing impairment, which she overcame with resilience.
3. Education: She attended several schools, including a finishing school in Virginia, which helped shape her leadership skills and social awareness.

Founding the Girl Scouts

Low's passion for youth empowerment led her to establish the Girl Scouts in 1912. This movement aimed to provide girls with opportunities for personal growth, leadership, and community service. Important aspects of the founding include:

- First Meeting: The first Girl Scout meeting took place in Savannah, where Low gathered 18 girls to discuss outdoor activities, crafts, and community service.
- Mission: The Girl Scouts were created to build girls of courage, confidence, and character who make the world a better place.
- Expansion: The movement grew rapidly, and by the end of the first year, there were over 300 members. The organization now serves millions of girls across the globe.
