Moon Map Overview and Environment

The Moon map in Black Ops 3 Zombies is set on a lunar base, presenting players with a unique and challenging environment. The low-gravity setting affects player movement and projectile trajectories, requiring adjustments to traditional gameplay strategies. The map features iconic locations such as the Lunar Lander, the Space Station, and various research and living quarters. Navigating these interconnected areas is critical for survival, as the layout is more vertical and open compared to other maps.

Low Gravity Effects

Low gravity on the Moon map influences both player and zombie movement. Players experience longer jumps and slower falls, which can be used to evade zombies or reach high vantage points. However, zombies also move differently, sometimes floating or jumping unexpectedly. Understanding these physics changes is crucial for timing attacks and avoiding damage.

Key Locations on the Map

The map contains several strategic areas, including:

- Lunar Lander: The starting point and a critical transport hub.
- Juggernog Station: Essential for obtaining the Juggernog perk and fortifying defenses.
- Research Labs: Areas containing vital weapons and Easter egg items.
- Space Station: A zero-gravity zone that requires careful navigation.

Essential Weapons and Equipment

Success in the Moon Zombies map heavily depends on acquiring powerful weapons and equipment.

The map offers a variety of classic and unique weaponry, including Pack-a-Punch upgrades and the iconic Ray Gun. Proper weapon selection and management can significantly improve survivability against increasingly difficult zombie waves.

Weapon Locations

Weapons are scattered throughout the map, often locked behind doors requiring points to open.

Notable weapons include the:

- Ray Gun – available via Mystery Box or specific map locations.
- Thundergun – a powerful crowd control weapon found in the research areas.
- Monkey Bombs – tactical equipment for distraction, purchasable from key stations.

Pack-a-Punch Machine

The Pack-a-Punch machine is crucial for upgrading weapons to deal increased damage and gain special effects. Accessing the machine requires completing specific map objectives, including activating certain power switches and traveling through teleporters. Upgraded weapons are essential for later rounds where zombies become significantly tougher.

Perks and Power-Ups Placement

Perks provide vital enhancements such as increased health, faster reload speeds, and quicker movement. Knowing the locations and costs of these perks enables efficient resource management and improved defensive capabilities on the Moon map.

Juggernog and Speed Cola

Juggernog, which increases player health, is one of the first perks players should aim to obtain. Speed Cola, which reduces reload times, is equally important for maintaining offensive pressure. Both perks are located in separate areas requiring strategic navigation and point allocation.

Other Perks and Power-Ups

Additional perks include:

- Double Tap Root Beer: Increases fire rate and damage output.
- Stamin-Up: Boosts sprint duration and speed, helpful in the large map environment.
- Electric Cherry: Emits an electric shock when reloading, damaging nearby zombies.

Power-ups such as Insta-Kill, Max Ammo, and Nuke randomly drop during gameplay and provide temporary advantages. Prioritizing these pickups during intense waves can dramatically improve survival chances.

Zombie Behavior and Strategies

Understanding the unique zombie behaviors on the Moon map is essential for developing effective survival strategies. Zombies exhibit altered movement patterns due to the low gravity and can spawn from various points around the map, including vents and teleporters.

Zombie Spawn Points

Zombies spawn from specific locations that players should familiarize themselves with to anticipate and prepare for oncoming waves. Key spawn points include:

- Ventilation shafts around the lunar base.
- Entry points to the Space Station.
- Surface areas near the Lunar Lander.

Effective Combat Tactics

Combat strategies involve kiting zombies through choke points, utilizing the map's verticality, and employing crowd control weapons. Players should use the environment to their advantage, such as luring zombies into zero-gravity zones where their movement is hindered. Coordinated teamwork and communication are critical in multiplayer sessions to cover multiple angles and objectives.

Easter Eggs and Special Objectives

The Moon map features a complex Easter egg quest that reveals additional story elements and unlocks special rewards. Completing these objectives requires thorough exploration, puzzle-solving, and precise execution of tasks.

Step-by-Step Easter Egg Walkthrough

The Easter egg involves multiple steps, including:

1. Activating power by collecting parts and turning on the main generator.
2. Using the Lunar Lander to retrieve key items from different map locations.

3. Solving puzzles related to the spaceship's control systems.
4. Defeating the boss zombie, the Astronaut Zombie, to complete the quest.

Rewards and Unlockables

Completing the Easter egg grants players unique weapon upgrades, special abilities, and narrative insights. These rewards enhance gameplay and provide additional incentive to master the Moon Zombies map.

Survival Tips and Advanced Tactics

Mastering survival on the Moon map requires a combination of resource management, map knowledge, and tactical execution. Advanced players employ specific strategies to extend their playtime and score.

Point Farming and Resource Management

Efficient point accumulation is vital for opening doors, purchasing perks, and acquiring weapons. Players should focus on maximizing points by using melee attacks to finish off zombies and strategically deploying crowd control weapons to handle large groups.

Team Coordination and Role Assignment

In multiplayer scenarios, assigning roles such as navigator, pack-a-punch operator, and defense specialist can streamline objectives and improve overall team performance. Communication about zombie locations and perk availability is essential for coordinated defense.
