Pressure Cooking

Pressure cooking is one of the fastest methods available in the multi cooker. Here's how to do it:

1. Add Ingredients: Place your ingredients in the cooking pot, ensuring you don't exceed the maximum fill line.
2. Seal the Lid: Close the lid securely until it clicks into place.
3. Select Cooking Time: Use the control panel to select the pressure cooking function and set the timer.
4. Natural or Quick Release: Once the cooking time is finished, follow the manual's instructions for releasing pressure—either natural (letting it release on its own) or quick (using the pressure release valve).

Slow Cooking

Slow cooking is perfect for those who want to prepare meals in advance. Here's how:

1. Layer Your Ingredients: Add your ingredients to the cooking pot, typically starting with meat and then adding vegetables and liquids.
2. Select Slow Cook Function: Choose the slow cook option on the control panel and set the desired cooking time (low or high).
3. Keep It Covered: Ensure the lid is on securely to maintain heat and moisture.

Sautéing and Browning

Sautéing is useful for preparing ingredients before pressure cooking or slow cooking.

1. Preheat the Pot: Select the sauté function and let the pot heat up for a few minutes.
2. Add Oil and Ingredients: Once heated, add oil and your ingredients, stirring frequently until browned.
3. Deglaze if Necessary: If there are brown bits stuck to the bottom, add a splash of broth or wine and scrape them up for extra flavor.

Steaming

Steaming is a healthy cooking method that retains nutrients.

1. Add Water: Pour water into the cooking pot (check the manual for the recommended amount).
2. Insert Steam Rack: Place the steam rack in the pot and arrange vegetables or seafood on top.
3. Select Steam Function: Set the timer based on the type of food being steamed.

Making Yogurt

Making yogurt at home is easy with the multi cooker.

1. Heat Milk: Use the sauté function to heat milk to about 180°F (82°C), then cool to 110°F (43°C).
2. Add Culture: Stir in yogurt starter or a few tablespoons of plain yogurt.
