Biblical Foundation of Power in the Name of Jesus

The power in the name of Jesus is deeply rooted in biblical scripture, where the name itself is portrayed as a source of authority and divine intervention. The New Testament frequently emphasizes this power, particularly in the teachings and ministry of Jesus Christ and the apostles. The phrase “in the name of Jesus” signifies not just a verbal invocation but the representation of Jesus’ authority, character, and divine nature.

Jesus’ Authority in the Gospels

Throughout the Gospels, Jesus demonstrates unparalleled authority over nature, sickness, and spiritual forces. His disciples were also empowered to act in His name, indicating that the power was not limited to Jesus alone but extended to those who believed in Him. For example, in John 14:13-14, Jesus states, “And I will do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” This highlights the divine empowerment granted through

His name.

Acts and the Early Church

The Book of Acts provides numerous accounts of the apostles performing miracles and preaching boldly in the name of Jesus. This demonstrates the continued presence of this power beyond Jesus' earthly
